Moments of Self-love & Serenity

Our night and loungewear is designed to embody a certain lifestyle—one that embraces moments of self-love and serenity. Life should be filled with small, meaningful moments that uplift and energize you. We understand that finding these moments can be challenging, especially when time feels like it is slipping away.

So, how can we practice these small rituals at the start of our day upon waking up or at the end of our day retiring to bed? It's about prioritizing and being aware of the things and people that mean the most to us. That is, in essence, what slow living is all about. Doing less but doing it better.

Instead of striving to do more and do things faster, we should slow down and incorporate meaningful rituals like tranquility, immersion, mindfulness, self-care, and quality moments with our loved ones within the comfort of our homes.

Inspired by nature

As always, our collection is inspired by the great nature. This year, our styles are inspired by the autumn-winter landscape. The colors are inspired by deep frozen lakes and the cold blue-grey tones from the ice. To soften our collection with warmer colors, we have added dark brown, golden beige, and a range of rose colors, which are colors that can be drawn from the forest.

Blue plays an important part in both our Summer and Winter collection. Because it symbolizes: calmness, relaxation, and order which is aligned with our brand DNA. In our AW25 collection, there are both light and dark blue shades.

Natural Materials – Thoughtfully Chosen

It means everything. The materials we choose for our night and loungewear need to be aligned with our DNA when it comes to durability, comfort, and caring.

We're prioritizing using different materials because each material has different qualities. Wisely, we choose soft, breathable, warm, lightweight, and comfortable fabrics. Fabrics that both indulge our body – and our mind. We create strong and long-lasting products that we hope you will use, keep, and cherish for decades. Therefore, CCDK Copenhagen is a highly regarded addition to your wardrobe if you desire to exude a sense of sophistication and tranquility.

At any time, we prefer to use natural materials like viscose, cotton, wool, and modal. Because it's important to us that the fibers we wear close to our body are as natural as possible. But we also mix these qualities with other fibers like polyester and elastane because the mix of these different materials strengthens the quality of our products, and helps us achieve a soft feeling and elegance.

The materials we use are a big part of our total environmental impact. Therefore when selecting fabrics and fibers we preferably choose and use high-quality materials with a sustainable focus, that are considered less impactful on our environment. All our products in CCDK contain materials like Lenzing EcoVero Viscose, Organic Cotton, Viscose extracted from Bamboo, and Recycled Polyester.
